--For example, PLATO Learning Systems, currently having a website at the World Wide Web “.com” address of “plato,” ~~“plato.com,”~~ began in 1963 with Control Data and University of Illinois using a grant from the National Science Foundation to develop technology and content for a mainframe computer based instructional system. In 1986 with the growth of personal computer technology, the PLATO courseware library and management systems were modified for delivery via local area networks. Starting in the 1990's the PLATO technology became available over wide area networks, such as the public wide area network commonly referred to as the Internet.
